Wireless video security in a self-powered portable kit.

Videofied shows you a 10 second video of what caused the alarm. An intruder activates the integrated night vision camera - sending a 200K MPEG video to a monitoring station or notification list. The alert can be emailed or sent directly to a cell phone. Encrypted radio communications and no A/C connections make this totally wireless self-powered video security system discreet and easy to deploy. The Videofied control module communicates over GPRS cell radio, Ethernet or standard telephone.
